

Join Our Dynamic Team as a Business Journalist Trainee

The Namibian is looking for a dynamic and passionate business journalist trainee. The candidate will focus on economics, corporate, data reporting and energy-sector reporting. This position is for one year.

Responsibilities:

- Produce well-written, relevant, accurate and balanced business news and investment stories
- Manage multiple stories simultaneously under tight deadlines;
- Perform any other duty as is reasonably assigned by the editor across all platforms.
- Cover the oil and energy sector
- Learn to source, interpret, and explain financial and economic data.
- Produce content using data analysis.
- Build a portfolio through beat rotations and on-the-job training.

Requirements:

- Relevant degree (finance, economics, accounting, data, or business journalism);
- Be able to read and analyse financial statements and other financial information;
- Excellent communication, writing and editing skills;
- Ability to work under pressure and carry out tasks independently;
- Be accepting of flexible work hours
- Have the flexibility to travel when required

Qualified candidates are invited to submit their CV and supporting documents detailing relevant experience to hr@namibian.com.na. Please indicate the position name in the subject line.

The incumbent will report to the News Editor

For enquiries call Tel: +264 61 279 681/657.

Only shortlisted candidates will be contacted.

Closing date: 10 October 2025

Celebrating 40 years of FREE PRESS EXCELLENCE