

Join Our Dynamic Team as a Trainee Journalists X2

The Namibian is looking for trainee journalists to join our one-year, full-time journalism training programme.

This opportunity is open to recent journalism graduates and those from other relevant fields, including law and political science.

We are looking for individuals who want to develop a career in journalism, curious about the world, relentless and ready to document history as it unfolds.

It's for those who feel suited to working to the tight deadlines, weekends and pressures of a modern newsroom.

Responsibilities:

- Produce news content for print, digital and broadcast platforms.
- Report on a range of beats, including politics, police, courts and municipal affairs.
- Attend events and develop contacts with key decision-makers.
- Gain practical insight into newsroom workflows across platforms.

- Contribute to innovative storytelling and audience engagement.
- Support newsroom reporting through research, interviews and fact-checking.
- Participate in training on ethics, sourcing, verification and platform adaptation.

The incumbent will report to the News Editor

To apply, please submit:

- A curriculum vitae.
- A cover letter explaining why you want to be a trainee journalist at The Namibian. Please also include a story idea you would like to pursue, why it matters and how you would go about reporting it.

Qualified candidates are invited to submit their CV and supporting documents detailing relevant experience to, hr@namibian.com.na. Please indicate the position name in the subject line.

For enquiries call Tel: +264 61 279 681/657.

Only shortlisted candidates will be contacted.

Closing date: 10 October 2025

Celebrating 40 years of FREE PRESS EXCELLENCE